

Bloomingdale School of Music is seeking candidates for the position of Cello Instructor. The ideal candidate has a strong dedication to teaching, has taught students of different ages and levels. The successful candidate should be energetic, organized, has excellent communication skills, and has a good sense of humor. The ability to work effectively with students, parents, staff, and other faculty members is a must. A master's degree in cello performance or pedagogy or equivalent experience is strongly recommended.

Required Teaching Day: 1 day per week, Saturday (Spring 2020)

Application Deadline: February 1, or until filled

Start Date: February 9

Primary Duties

The Instructor will teach students at beginner and beginner-intermediate levels in one-on-one and group settings at Bloomingdale's Upper West Side location. The instructor will work with students and parents to form and meet semester goals; complete end-of-term progress reports; and prepare students for a final performance. The successful candidate will be available for a minimum of 3 hours of teaching per week and have a schedule that will enable him/her to be present throughout the year, maintain consistent weekly schedule, and complete necessary make-up lessons in a timely way. The instructor is encouraged to engage him/herself and students in BSM community events and performances throughout the year.

Salary and Benefits

Pay is competitive with other New York City community music schools and is based on past teaching experience and education. Benefits include paid faculty concerts, professional development opportunities, tax-exempt Metrocards, and access to free rehearsal space.

Qualification

Masters degree or advanced degree in cello performance and/or music education with successful teaching experience, strong interpersonal skills, organizational and administrative skills, experience in effective group experiences for young students.

Hiring preference will be given to a candidate who demonstrates an understanding of our mission and who is enthusiastic about working closely with students of all levels. Evidence of methodological innovation and creative teaching strategies is highly desirable.

Application

Cover letters and resumes will be reviewed as received. Please submit all materials as soon as possible. Indicate all days you are available for teaching. Only those being considered will be contacted.

Email submissions to lgravino@bsmny.org. Please use "Cello Teacher" as the subject.

Position Announcement: Cello Instructor

About BSM

Bloomingdale School of Music is a nonprofit community music school located on Manhattan's Upper West Side and serving over 600 students from all over greater New York City. The school has an extraordinary faculty, an innovative program, and a fifty year record of excellent teaching and concert presenting. More information may be found at the school's website www.bsmny.org. Bloomingdale is a certified member of the National Guild of Community Schools of the Arts and a founding member of the New York City Coalition of Community Schools of the Arts. The school is housed in a five-story brownstone at 323 West 108th Street, between Broadway and Riverside Drive. The facility has 14 teaching studios, a recital hall, and offices.

Bloomingdale School of Music EOE institution/employer and is deeply committed to diversity and inclusion. BSM does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, religion, age, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity, veteran status, height, weight, or marital status in employment or the provision of services and is an equal access/equal opportunity/affirmative action employer.